- Recite each DUA with complete conviction and devotion.

- The benefit of DUA depends upon offering obligatory prayers regularly and punctually. No voluntary service can take place of obligatory prayers, so it is necessary to be careful about all obligatory prayers.

Nahmaduhu wanusalli alaa Rasoolihil kareem!

In our usual course of life, we experience that a lot of things happen as we perceive. For example, we intend to meet a person and suddenly he is in front of us. We are thirsty and open the fridge and find a bottle of cold water and so on. These happenings make us happy. We should cultivate the habit to thank Allah on such occasions and say the word of thanks "Al hamdulillah", which our Prophet sallahu Alaihi wasallam has said it to be "The Best Duaa"

On the contrary many a things happen against our will and planning which displease us. For example on a hot day when we are badly in need of a fan or cooler, suddenly the Light goes Off; or we are just within reach to catch the bus, but miss it by seconds. On such happenings, we should cultivate the habit of patience and forebearance, and recite the words of patience "Inna lillahi wa Inna llaihi Raajioon". We are promised an increase in bounties on offering thanks; and there is a glad tiding of Allah's association for being patient.

To err is human, so lots of errors are done by us. Sometimes, we commit something which proves to be contrary to will of our Lord. May it be negligence about Faraaaidh or Waagibaat or abadoning Sunnah or a petty sin or grave sin. On every such act we should cultivate the habit of seeking Allah's forgiveness; and its wording are "Astaghfirullah". This repentance is not only a means for forgiving sins but also a way to seek Allah's pleasure. As a result of which, we are bestowed with worldly blessings, ease in difficulties and dissспelling of calamities.

All these three things i.e. bounty, suffering and sin, upon happening of which, we have been given expressions for thanks (Shukr), patience (Sabr) and seeking forgiveness (Istighfaar). The fourth one is the forthcoming happening, which spread over a long span of time right from birth till death and from death till entering paradise. For our safety, the Prophet Sallallahu Alaihi wasallam has presented the "Gift of seeking protection" to his followers, in which protection of Allah is sought from every small and great evil of this world and the hereafter. All these things from which the Prophet Sallallhu Alaihi wasallam has sought Allah's protection is not something trivial but have great importance.

Therefore it is essential for every Muslim to make it a habit to say Alhamdulillah for something which pleases him and upon every dislike Innalillah.... and upon committing every sin Istighfaar, along with this one should seek Allah's protection through the prayers of protection.

"A Very important Advise"

I have divided these prayers into seven sections for its reciters so that one who cannot recite all DUAs everyday can finish them within a week.

The Seeker of Allah's pleasure
(Maulana Muhammad Yunus Palanpuri)
The Translator's Note:

Bismillahi, Al Hamdulillahi, Wassalaatu Wassalaam Ala Sayyedil Mursaleen. Praise is for Allah, the Benevolent, who blessed me with his favour to translate and transliterate into English, Hazrat Maulana Muhammad Yunus Palanpuri's book "Allah ki Panah". May Allah accept my humble service and make it a means of His pleasare and His Prophet's Sallallahu Alai Wasallam, pleasure. Ameen!

The readers of the English transliteration should kindly note that as the international phonetic alphabet (IPA) and pronunciation symbols are not strictly followed, so they are requested to check their Arabic pronunciation with any qualified Arabic text recieter. For example to indicate (Ain) of Arabic alphabets, a comma is put before English alphabets: A'oozu.

I request the receiter to remember me in D'uaa to remain sincere in every deed throughout the life.
